

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

What is the difference between a literal detail and an inference?

FLE-0001

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

What is an effective writer's-effect comment?

FLE-0002

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

In this task, what does "Explicit meaning and selective evidence" involve?

FLE-0003

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

In this task, what does "Inference, own words and writer's effect" involve?

FLE-0004

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

What is the length limit for Paper 1 Question 2(a)?

FLE-0005

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

How should you describe a mixed attitude?

FLE-0006

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

In this task, what does "Select and compress" involve?

FLE-0007

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

In this task, what does "Interpret an attitude" involve?

FLE-0008

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

What word range applies to the Paper 1 language task?

FLE-0009

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

How can you analyse a metaphor precisely?

FLE-0010

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

In this task, what does "Short answers about words in context" involve?

FLE-0011

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

In this task, what does "Language analysis: choice → association → effect" involve?

FLE-0012

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

A retrieval answer reports what the text actually says. Underline the key words in the question, find the matching passage and give only the number of distinct points requested. If the task asks for two details, two versions of the same detail earn no extra credit.

FLE-0003

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

Identify a short quotation, explain its associations, and show how it shapes the reader's impression.

FLE-0002

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

A literal detail is stated directly; an inference is a conclusion supported by details in the text.

FLE-0001

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

Name both the positive and the cautious or critical aspect, and support each with a relevant detail.

FLE-0006

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

No more than 120 words in continuous prose; 10 reading marks and 5 writing marks.

FLE-0005

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
01 · Comprehension and inference

An inference adds a conclusion supported by details, not an invented event. For "in your own words", replace the meaning of the whole phrase. For effect, name a specific word or image, explain its associations and show why it shapes the reader's view.

FLE-0004

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

About 200–250 words for a 10-mark analysis of how language works in Text C.

FLE-0009

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

Attitude is more than a label such as "happy". Identify what a speaker values or fears, then support it with a detail. Balance mixed positions: a person can support a project while questioning its growth.

FLE-0008

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
02 · Selective summary and attitudes

A summary is shaped by its question. Mark each relevant benefit or difficulty, remove repeated examples, group similar points, and use neutral own words. Write continuous prose of no more than 120 words. Do not add your own opinion. The reading content carries 10 marks and concise, accurate writing 5.

FLE-0007

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

Choose brief quotations that give you something to analyse. Explain how each choice works in context and what impression it creates. Link separate examples to the changing mood; do not simply list literary devices. For this syllabus, the developed language task is about 200–250 words and carries 10 marks.

FLE-0012

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

A word has a dictionary meaning and a meaning shaped by its sentence. For a two-mark explanation of a phrase, communicate both relevant parts in your own words. Read before and after the quoted words to avoid guessing.

FLE-0011

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
03 · Short answers and language analysis

Quote briefly, explain what is compared, explore the associations, then connect them to atmosphere or reader response.

FLE-0010

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

What is the word range and mark split for the extended response to reading?

FLE-0013

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

How can you develop source material without inventing unsupported events?

FLE-0014

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

In this task, what does “Read the task before drafting” involve?

FLE-0015

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

In this task, what does “Develop, organise and adopt a form” involve?

FLE-0016

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

How is Paper 2 Section A divided?

FLE-0017

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

How long is the directed writing response?

FLE-0018

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

In this task, what does “Evaluate source reasoning” involve?

FLE-0019

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

In this task, what does “Synthesize before taking a position” involve?

FLE-0020

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

How many composition titles are offered in Paper 2 Section B?

FLE-0021

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

How are description and narrative structurally different?

FLE-0022

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

In this task, what does “Description: a controlled scene” involve?

FLE-0023

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

In this task, what does “Narrative: change under pressure” involve?

FLE-0024

PREGUNTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

Underline role, audience, form and every required bullet. Extract relevant details, then infer plausible thoughts from the source without contradicting it. Choose a controlled voice. This is a response to reading: 10 marks assess source use and 10 assess writing. The target is about 250–300 words.

FLE-0015

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

Select relevant facts, infer plausible thoughts from those details, keep the given situation accurate, and write for the specified audience and form.

FLE-0014

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

About 250–300 words; 10 reading marks for source use and 10 writing marks for the response.

FLE-0013

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

About 250–350 words; synthesise and evaluate the source ideas in the specified speech, letter, article or report.

FLE-0018

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

Part 1(a): 5 reading marks; part 1(b): 10 reading marks and 25 writing marks, making 40 marks total.

FLE-0017

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
04 · Extended response to reading

Plan an opening with a clear purpose, two or three developed points grounded in the passage, and a closing action or reflection. Make the chosen form recognisable through address, headings or spoken cues only where useful. A diary may show private reflection; a report should state findings and recommendations.

FLE-0016

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

Four titles: two descriptive and two narrative; choose one and write about 350–450 words.

FLE-0021

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

In 1(b), use and assess source ideas as evidence for your own argument. Acknowledge a credible objection, answer it with a practical condition, and propose measurable action. This part carries 10 reading and 25 writing marks; write about 250–350 words. Speech, letter, article or report must suit audience and purpose.

FLE-0020

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
05 · Directed writing

Part 1(a) asks you to analyse or evaluate how a writer presents an idea, worth 5 marks. Identify a claim, the evidence offered, its persuasive effect and a possible limit. Do not merely repeat the passage. A survey of existing users, for example, may miss people who never visit.

FLE-0019

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

Narrative requires an event, a decision and a consequence. Establish a viewpoint, develop tension through action and pace, then close on a meaningful change. An ending need not be a twist; avoid introducing an unexplained dramatic event on the last line.

FLE-0024

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

Description develops an impression through selected details, changes in focus and precise sensory language. There need not be a plot. Start wide, move to a revealing detail and finish with a changed impression. Avoid stacking adjectives or inventing all five senses when they are irrelevant.

FLE-0023

RESPUESTA

FagusED · English First Language
06 · Descriptive and narrative composition

Description develops a controlled impression of a scene; narrative develops events, choices and their consequences.

FLE-0022

RESPUESTA